

Simple COncepts

simpleco@simpleco.net - 281-499-0169 - www.simpleco.net

Who ARE you people!?

Simple COncepts is a company of experts providing assistance in the use and application of computer hardware and software. We are experts at installing and configuring programs, teaching those who have yet to fully learn to use their computers, finding and fixing the “problems” that can plague you, the computer user, such as little “glitches” that always seem to freeze up your computer at that crucial moment, and assist in the decision of what computer system to purchase.

Our technicians have an advantage that most of our competitors do not have; we know software and hardware and how to make them work with each other. Our technicians did not just read some manual prepared by another company while everything was running smoothly; they know how programs work in the field because they have “hands on” experience. They know what needs to be fixed, what settings need to be changed, what programs need adjusting to make them work on YOUR system.

This knowledge allows them to quickly fix your problems, install your software, train your employees, and get your system doing what you bought it for; making your life easier, more organized, and more profitable.

We are NOT salespeople. Simple COncepts isn't interested in selling you any equipment or software. We are experts at making it work not trying to sell it to you. So you won't find a salesperson at your door trying to convince you that what you really need (not!) is a whole new system! No, we at Simple COncepts will, instead, do our best to make what you have already paid for continue to work for you.

Simple COncepts has been in business since 1989, and for years has provided all of our clients with the assistance they needed and asked for. We shall continue to do so and hope that you will let us assist you!

David B. VillaSana

David Villasana
Owner/Partner